| VINIFICATION METHOD        | The grapes were hand-picked at the perfect ripeness point, coming from different plots and immediately processed in the cellar. After destemming and gentle crushing, the grapes were sent to stainless steel vats, where alcoholic fermentation took place. During this phase, gentle maceration takes place at a controlled temperature. After fermentation, 30% of the batch aged in French and American oak for 6 months and the remaining 70% aged in stainless steel vats. Before bottling, the wine was slightly stabilized and filtered. |
